SUPER SHARKS

WHAT MAKES SHARKS SUPER PREDATORS?

Fast-twitch Muscles

Great White Sharks are incredibly strong. Their powerful tails are able to launch them completely out of the water with their prey in their mouth.

Cartilage Skeleton

Compared to bones, cartilage is less prone to disease. It's also lighter and more flexible – making the shark a faster, more maneuverable predator.

Endless Teeth

Sharks have a conveyor belt of teeth, and may lose 30,000 or more in their lifetime. Great White teeth are 2 inches tall and incredibly sharp.

Dermal Denticles

Shark skin is tough, made of tiny armor called "denticles" which both serves as protection to the shark's body and reduces swimming turbulence.

Super Senses

Some species of shark can detect one part per trillion of blood in sea water. It is likely that they have a sharp sense of hearing and good night vision.

Extra Senses

Most shark species have hundreds to thousands of electroreceptors to help locate prey. They also have a lateral line to detect vibrations in the water.
