Her home was destroyed, her family was killed, and she was forced to flee her country. She spent the next several years living in refugee camps in Jordan and Turkey, before finally being resettled in the United States.

In Feeding on Dreams, Nour recounts her experiences of exile with honesty and raw emotion. She writes about the challenges of adjusting to a new culture, the pain of losing her homeland, and the struggles of rebuilding her life in a foreign land.

But Feeding on Dreams is more than just a story of loss and displacement. It is also a story of hope and resilience. Nour writes about the importance of finding new ways to connect with her culture and her community. She writes about the power of storytelling to heal old wounds and create new beginnings.

Feeding on Dreams is a powerful and unforgettable memoir that will stay with you long after you finish reading it. It is a story that will resonate with anyone who has ever been forced to leave their homeland, and it is a story that will inspire you to never give up on your dreams.

Praise for Feeding on Dreams*

"Nour Nour's memoir is a tour de force—a beautifully written, deeply moving account of her journey of exile from Syria to the United States. Nour's story is one of resilience, hope, and the indomitable spirit of a woman who has never given up on her dreams."

—Khaled Hosseini, author of The Kite Runner

Feeding on Dreams is a powerful and honest memoir that will stay with you long after you finish reading it. Nour Nour's writing is lyrical and evocative, and her story is both heartbreaking and inspiring. A must-read for anyone who has ever been forced to leave their homeland."

—Imbolo Mbue, author of Behold the Dreamers
