By Patricia Cornwell

Patricia Cornwell, the world-renowned forensic pathologist and #1 New York Times bestselling author, has written a powerful and moving memoir about her own personal journey with addiction and her triumphant recovery. In Ninety-Nine Fire Hoops, Cornwell recounts her struggles with alcohol and prescription drugs, and the devastating impact they had on her life. She also shares her story of redemption, hope, and healing, showing us that even in the darkest of times, there is always light.

Cornwell's memoir is a raw and honest account of her addiction. She does not shy away from the pain and suffering that she experienced, and she writes about her relapse with the same unflinching honesty that she uses to describe her recovery. However, Ninety-Nine Fire Hoops is not just a story of addiction. It is also a story of hope and triumph. Cornwell shows us that addiction can be overcome, and that even those who have hit rock bottom can find their way back to a life of sobriety and happiness.

Ninety-Nine Fire Hoops is a must-read for anyone who has ever struggled with addiction, or who knows someone who has. Cornwell's story is a powerful reminder that addiction is a disease that can affect anyone, regardless of their age, race, gender, or socioeconomic status. It is also a story of hope, showing us that even in the darkest of times, there is always light.
